VR Counselor—Service Source

As a Vocational Rehabilitation Counselor, I met with a client who had experienced severe vision issues due to having cataracts. He worked in a position where your senses have to be on point due to the dangers around him. Vocational Rehabilitation was able to assist this client in retaining his position through Physical Restoration in the form of cataract surgery. It was a quick recovery and the client was so very thankful he stated that he only wished he could tell everyone across our country how wonderful Vocational Rehabilitation services are and how we were able to help him stay employed during a time when so many are losing their jobs due to Covid-19.
