

Amanda Tashjian, PhD, CRC, LPC (AZ), LCPC (IL)

I choose the CRCC for myself, my students, and my clients. The CRCC has allowed me professional development opportunities that encompass the values and competencies required to practice as a rehabilitation counselor providing individuals with disabilities the most comprehensive and inclusive practices possible. As a rehabilitation counselor educator, CRCC trains counselors in training with the request skills needed to understand individuals with disabilities, support independence and choice, and advocacy. As a practitioner, the CRCC credential has provided me opportunities to engage in counseling and assessment practices that are specialized and specific to individuals with disabilities. This is my why.
