

North Dakota: By the Numbers

55 CRCs in North Dakota*

are currently working to systematically assess and evaluate individuals with disabilities to identify strengths and maximize abilities, working collaboratively to cultivate successful, long-term careers, and participate fully in all aspects of their lives.

*CRCC

96,000 Disabled North Dakota Residents*

deserve to achieve their personal and professional goals, self-efficacy and autonomy, a sense of belonging within their communities, and fully integrated lives. Certified Rehabilitation Counselors make that possible.

*Center for Research on Disability

CRCC's Commitment to Excellence

CRCC is a proud member of the Institute of Credentialing Excellence and is accredited by the National Commission for Certifying Agencies. By upholding the highest certification standards, CRCC champions long-term, high-quality careers for individuals with disabilities.

